To Whom it May Concern:

Snaptron Inc. provides customers with tactile dome switch products manufactured from 300 series stainless steel. The tactile domes may be plated with nickel, gold, silver or tin.

To the best of our knowledge, all of the metals procured by Snaptron are sourced in conformance with the requirements of the Dodd-Frank legislation. In preparing this response, Snaptron has relied on information provided by its steel and plating suppliers.

Additional information, including a reporting template is available at www.snaptron.com.
